

Book your free place for 'Growing Skills in the Innovation Corridor,' a collaborative event with Innovation Corridor UK at Anglia Ruskin University's Arise Innovation Hub in Harlow, on Tuesday May 14, from 2 to 4pm.

Join Times Higher Education University of the Year winner ARU (Anglia Ruskin University) and the Innovation Corridor UK for this collaborative event focused on cultivating skills within the London-Cambridge corridor through the power of apprenticeships.

Hear from John McGill about the Corridors new growth plans and from ARU's team on how apprenticeships can help you attract new talent, develop the skills of your current employees, and how they can help drive growth across the region.

Whether you're an existing member of the network or an organisation eager to invest in talent development, we want to hear from you and your experience of existing and predicted skills gaps that you are currently facing. We welcome you to join, network and collaborate.
