

The UK Innovation Corridor's Chair, Jackie Sadek, and Director, John McGill, will be attending the UK Real Estate and Investment Forum (UKREiIF) in Leeds from 21 May to 23 May.

Formed in 2013, the UK Innovation Corridor is an economic region of global significance joining two of the country's most productive cities, London & Cambridge and is on course to almost double the size of its economy, growing from £189 billion to £350 billion by 2050.

Get in touch to meet with Jackie and John who are committed to fostering connections with key decision-makers in the investment and real estate sectors, as well as showcasing the diverse development opportunities within the Corridor with the aim of facilitating sustainable, inclusive, and transformative investment, driving economic growth through development and regeneration.
